

Position: Miele Brand Ambassador (Part Time)

When the Miele Company was first started back in 1899, the founders believing that success was only achievable in the long term by being totally convinced of the quality of one's product, elected to produce appliances that were both durable and long lasting. Their motto "Immer Besser" which means "Forever Better" represents this philosophy. It is thanks to this philosophy that the Miele brand is now identified with unsurpassed product quality worldwide.

As part of our continued sales & marketing programme in Ireland we are seeking exceptional sales people for part time "Miele Brand Ambassadors"

As a Miele Brand Ambassador you will:

- o Explain the benefits of Miele Appliances to customers in Electrical Retail Outlets and at Customer Events across Ireland
- o Demonstrate with passion key features & benefits
- o Share knowledge about our product range
- o Provide first-class customer service
- o Deliver on both personal and team targets
- o Identify areas to improve the customer experience

What we will be looking for in you:

You'll need to show us excellent communication skills at all levels, a record of sales success and have the ability to explain our appliances in a way that's easy to understand. A home economics background would be preferable. Previous experience in a similar role.
